

One of the hardest working. consistently committed groups of people in the Annie Wright community is the Maintenance & Security Department. The nine members of this department tirelessly labor to ensure that the entire school grounds and facilities from playing fields to classrooms, from kitchen to restrooms, from dorm rooms to boiler room function in a way that allows the rest of the community to get on with its business. Not only does the Mainte nance & Security staff work day and right, 365 days per year, but in this past and current year it has "bitten off" the extra responsibility of overseeing and coordinating with the construction of Klarsch Hall and the renovation of much of the school. This has added not only duties to their lists, but hours to their days. We, the Ward Weaver yearbook staff, in honor of vour selfless service to the present and future of our beautiful school, dedicate this book to you.

THESE GATORS BITE

Theme 2004:

The title of this yearbook is "These Gators Bite," demonstrating the ability of the students at Annie Wright to be up-beat and school spirited. Students here at Annie Wright are very enthusiastic and therefore should be congratulated for their devotion and enthusiasm within the school community.

Brittini Peterson Yearbook Editor

Annie Wright students are always showing school spirit in their own ways, either by going to games or dressing up. The school deserves to be able to show what Gators are all about and hopefully this yearbook can portray how we rule in a spirited way!!

Jennifer Pan Asst. Yearbook Editor

The "Gator" is a powerful and tenacious animal. It sets its sights on its prey, and with cunning, strength and energy it pursues it. When the gator bites, it holds on tight and overcomes that which it struggles against. Our "Gators", our students, display the same strength and tenacity in the lives they lead and the goals they pursue at Annie Wright. … So, watch out!! These Gators Bite!

In Loving Memory~ June 16, 1986 - January 26, 2004

People have told me to live life taking risks, so I'll never have regrets. The truth is that it is not possible. Risk and regret are part of the same package, along with joy

"The seasons, they go round and round, and the painted ponies go up and down. We're captured on a carousel of time. We can't return we can only look behind from where we came, and go round and round and round in the circle game."

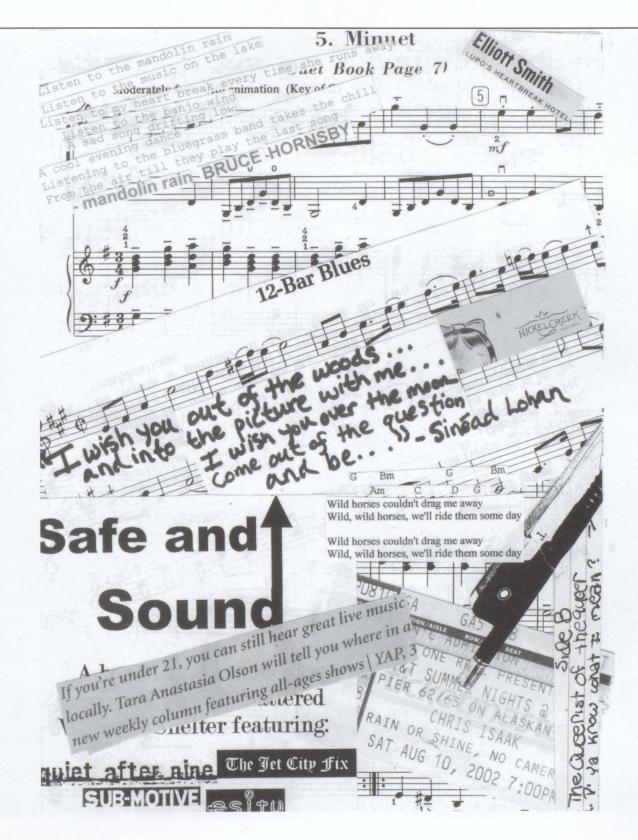

and success. All make us human. Allowing us to experience happiness and sorrow. So my advice is to take as many risks as possible, and to accept the regrets as part of the reward. Don't ever be afraid to look back. Enjoy the good memories, and learn from the bad ones. Let the future take you where your heart eventually tells you to go, it knows what it's talking about. "What does it mean to say forever?" -Pablo Neruda When we promise to do something forever, does it mean now until we forget, now until we die, or now until the end of time? How can we promise to do something after we die when nobody knows what really happens to us?

I can promise I have a memory of a moment when every Blue Tie has touched my heart, amazed me, and inspired me in some way. Those memories will stay with me as long as my heart and soul stay intact, and that is the best definition of loving you forever I can give. I thank each and every one of you for giving me a piece of yourself. To remember you as long as I can, even though we may be separated. Every one of you will be with me forever.

Kimberly Miller

June 16th, 1986 ~ January 26th, 2004

"I can promise I have a memory of a moment when every Blue Tiehas touched my heart, amazed me, and inspired me in some way. Those memories will stay with me as long as my heart and soul stay intact, and that is the best definition of loving you for ever I can give. I thank each and every one of you for giving me a piece of yourself to remember you as long as I can, even though we may be separated. Every one of you will be with me forever."

- Kimberly Miller

'Kim quietly led by example. She was driven, compassionate and full of academic promise. To borrow words from Neitzche, Kim was alsovery aware that "Great problems are found in the street". She appeared to exist in that tension between everyday life and what Camus called "supernatural anxiety," the tension perhaps between the logical and the absurd. Kim asked big questions, and grappled with a very complex emotional life." - Zach Hansen

"I actually like sleeping on the floor. I like feeling the gravitational and normal forces as I push down on something as hard as it is pushing up on me." - Kimberly Miller

- "I wonder if the farthest distance I have to travel isn't inside my own mind." - Cristina Garcia
- "She felt as though she were drifting through the heavens, that she was a planet looking at herself from one of her own moons"
  - Cristina Garcia

"There's so much to say and I don't know where to begin. It's too hard to make the chaos of a human brain into text on a page that explains who I am... hard to understand the contradiction of what it means to be human. The world is getting more and more chaotic, simply labeled as entropy in physics. But humans naturally try to make order out of the chaos, but ordering just creates more chaos... so maybe our purpose as humans contradicts the universe itself, and that's why we grow old and die, taking on the universe."

- Kimberly Miller

"Kim was the love and support in my life. She loved those in her life with tenderness of a mother. She took even more pride in other people's accomplishments than her own. The dreams she had for my life set a standard that I may have not had for myself if it were not for her. She was an inspiration to me then and will continue to inspire my life in memory of her." - Genajuade Tade

"Kim always prefaced her sentences with the phrase: "Do you ever." To her there was no topic too deep and no subject too complex to dive into and dissect. Her mind was filled with boundess opportunities for questions just waiting to be answered. "Do you ever conder the universe?" "Do you ever want to fly?" "Do you ever wonder what life would be like as a cat?" While most of us would smile and nod as if we comprehended, we often never did deve into these topics, for answering them would be too intimidating, or too scary, or too confusing Km, however, was always up for a challenge. Asking her, "Do you ever." could only have elicited one answer from this brilliant young woman, "Yes." - Tara Oson

"Kim was a great friend Always knowing when you needed someone to hold your hand, she was as observant of her surroundings as she was of the tiniest details within a piece of literature. Kim continuously pondered life and faced every chalenge with her innate sense of compassion and kindness. Kim inspired me as an athlete, a scholar, a woman, and a friend I will forever miss her." - Mary Alice Parks

"Kim was a person who could not be defined by words or normal means of expression. She surpassed all boundaries set in place by this world, and somehow managed to make it look easy. Unfortunately, I never realized how much she truly meant to me until I fully accepted I would never get the chance to see her bouncing down the hall with her blonde hair flying. She was truly a positive and inspirational force in my life and I am honored that she let me into her world, causing me to be a better person." - Shira Goldstein

"I don't think there is ever a day where I don't think about Kim. You can just dose your eyes, and remember the details that you never bothered to appreciate before. She's the artistic masterpiece that everyone gawks at in exclusive galeries but no one ever truly understands. I loved her so much - and everyday I saw her, I couldn't tel her enough times how much I cared about hen. Her presence was adious in the best sense-her kindness and thoughtfulness overwhelmed your senses, and you just couldn't heb but think that she was perfect and beautiful n every way. She could cheer someone up with just a simple smile or turn someone's world upside down with a single guru-like phrase. She was simply an extraordinary human being, and I will miss her every single day of my life for years to come." - Denise Lim

"Kim was one of those friends who I could tell anything to, whether it be about friends, family, or just life in general, and she always had some heartwarming response. She was one of those girls who could make a joke about anything and always make me laugh. She was one of those people who you could meet once and know that your heart had been touched forever. I was never able to fully comprehend her thoughts or mind, but I was able to understand the lave that we shared as friends. She has made three years of my life unforgettable and I don't believe I ever thanked her for that. She was one of the strong pilars that I could lean against, for heb, for laughs, and for friendship. All truly know now is that she has left some of the most unforgettable memories in my mind, that I miss her every day of my life, and that I love her." - Brittini Peterson

TEACHER TRACKS....

To the graduating classes of 2004, 2008, and 2011:

memories of where we've been...

Remember this: no one is better than you. Everyone is ignorant about some things, and everyone is an expert on at least one thing. You are our future, although  $\mathcal I$  am somewhat ashamed of the legacy we leave you. Have the strength to change what is wrong and do what is right. You are your own best advocate. Know that  $\mathcal I$  support you on this journey, and understand that everything happens for a reason. Knowing what that reason is: that is a whole other story.  $\mathcal I$  send a special congratulation to this year's seniors. You were the members of my first second grade class.  $\mathcal I$  have watched you grow, and you have made me proud to be a teacher. Peace.

~George Solomon, Second Grade Teacher

5th Graders:
Don't grow up too fast. Act your age!
Best of luck in Middle School
~El len Oppenheim, Kindergarten Teacher

To the Blue Ties: Rock on. ~Larry Kokozska, US ESL Teacher

"Life is short, art endures." – Hippocrates Good luck on your journeys! ~Jill Jueling, US Art Teacher

To the Senior Class:

Got math?

~Annie Garrison, US Math Teacher

To the Graduating 5th Grade Class: Go Gators! Do your best! Have fun in Middle School! ~Ms. Schneider's 3rd Grade Class 2004 To the Lower, Middle and Upper School Graduates:

"It is only with the heart that one can see rightly. What is essential is invisible to the eye." —Antoine de St. Exupéry from "The Little Prince"

~Bill Wellington, Technology Coordinator

All through your life you will experience endings and beginnings. Sometimes endings are sad because they mean that part of your life is behind you, but you have to have endings to have beginnings. Sometimes beginnings, while exciting, may be a little scary, and yet they lead you into your future. Be kind to yourself during these times of transition! ~Sandy Pell, Kindergarten Teacher

You 5th Graders have been among the "favorites" for any teacher who has taught you. You are polite, courteous and responsive. You are "easy to teach" because you all work hard and do your best. You have a great work ethic. Good luck!

~Jack Fal lat. Director of Lower School

To the 8th Graders:

There are so many special memories. The milk boat shanties, &B's rendition of Little Shop of Horrors, the first class to go to Washington D.C. for spring break, the pancake breakfast fundraiser and the exploding coffee pot! Best wishes for a lot more fun in the future.

~Joy Ottum, Director of Middle School

Remember..."You can get all A's and still flunk life."

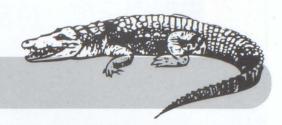

~Jan Lind, School Murse

To the 5th Graders:

To a group of diligent workers and astute thinkers, with a flair for "learning style" ...congratulations upon graduating from 5th grade and best of luck to you in Middle School

~Ho I ly Hunt, Learning Specialist

...and advice for where you're going.

To the Class of 2004:

Remember...school is a laboratory. experiment! Later in life you will need to have the answers. This is your time to discover them.

~Jenny Graupensperaer. US ESL Teacher

For the 8th Grade Class:
"Numbers constitute the only universal language." –Nathanael West
"If you get nostalgic about youth, just remember algebra." –Fran Leibowitz
"Please remember your old friend, the Distributive Property!" –Mr. Hoerner,

~Comie Rossi, US Spanish Teacher

For the 8th Graders: To the first group of Milk Boaters, sail on! And may your days be just as sunny and bright as that day by the lake. ~Kyle Price, 8th Grade Teacher Every year in the life of an Annie Wright student is important, but graduating from a division, be it Lower School, Middle School or Upper School, is a wonderful benchmark. It indicates to us your persistence, your willingness to give your school experience your best and to be a vital part of our community. Take the time to reflect and pat yourselves on the back. We are proud of you and wish you well as you take your next step, be it in another division of Annie Wright or on to another institution.

~Jayasri Ghosh, Ph.D., Head of School

Dear Blue Ties of 2004:

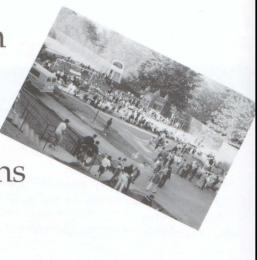

There's something special about the color. Maybe it's the sky and the ocean, and yes, it will even be my daughter's tie color. My first AWS graduation was a Blue Tie class, so maybe that's it. Whatever, I wish you all the best in your bright and provocative futures. Send a note now and again when the fancy strikes. I will always be curious. God bless you all

Love you! Dad, Mom & Kelsey

Dearest Brittini,

Determined, loving, courageous, artistic, confident, and oh so much more. You keep those beautiful brown eyes on the goal, but oh how you enjoy the journey. Climbing a mountain, performing in front of an audience, tucking down the ski slopes, or racing across the river, your zest for life has been a joy to watch. And now you graduate with wonderful life experiences, having discovered incredible talents, conquered many fears, defined your values, and made friends from across the oceans. We take joy in the memories and are so proud of the confident young woman you have become.

We love you very much, Mom and Dad

Kara Brown

Your balloon strings may be cut...
and you may not know where you're going...
but, oh, what a view.
Alice Walker

Kara,

Whether you are learning to pitch a softball, changing leads on your horse, getting that "A" from Mr. Struckmeyer, doing a jump serve, or beating Dad at ping- pong, you never give up. We've worried sometimes that you set your sights too high - but, oh my - look what you've accomplished!

We are so proud of all you've done, but even more so of who you are.

We love you.

To the 2004 Yearbook Editorial Staff

A cold January weekend morning spent warming ourselves and working in the overheated computer lab.

The upbeat style and professional quality, let alone the completion, of this fantastic yearbook are really due to the dedication and sacrifice that the 8 of you made this year. You gave your time (yes, lots of it!) and creative and technical talents to make this yearbook something spe cial for the entire school to enjoy. Thank you for being "can do" people. You are all stars in my book.

The School year has finally come to an end, and the yearbook is outlif you were on the yearbook editorial staff, you never thought that this day would come. For the editorial staff, this past year was filled with rurning around trying to get pictures and write captions, meeting late nights and even on weekends to meet our deadlines. The yearbook would not have come out on time without the help of some extraordinary people: Mrs. G (yearbook advisor), Brad Jones, Bill Wellington, our Jostens representative Elizabeth Parker, our Middle School representatives, our dedicated staff and Brittini Peterson, this year's editor-in-chief. If after reading the yearbook you wish that you were part of the group that made these memories possible, don't worny - there is always next year when the craziness starts all over again! Thank you to everyone who helped make this year's yearbook a success, even if your only contribution was letting us take your picture. We hope that you all have fantastic summers, and next year we just might see some of you on the yearbook staff.

Sincerely.
